The Perfect Choice for LBK Resident & Boater Pat DeCastro

Any sportfisherman looking for a high-end, quality sportfishing boat needs to look no further than Jupiter Marine, a family-owned and operated builder located in Palmetto, according to Longboat Key resident Pat DeCastro.

DeCastro said he chose his 29-foot Jupiter over the competition because of its exceptional “fit and finish.”

“I also like the performance of the hull,” DeCastro said. “It hugs the water, and it handles just like a sports car.”

It should. Carl Herndon, president of Jupiter Marine, has earned worldwide renown over the last half-century as a builder of some of the world’s finest sportfishing yachts. With past achievements as the Founder of Blackfin Yacht and President of Bertram Yacht, Herndon has unparalleled expertise in the boat building industry. He was the first to perfect a unique hull pad design, resulting in Jupiter’s exceptionally dry and stable ride that it is famous for.

Jupiter produces center-console offshore fishing boats from 26 to 38 feet in length, as well as a 39 foot Express Model, with accommodations to sleep 6. They specialize in building semi-custom boats for customers who won’t settle for a standard production vessel. This personalized level of service offers clients the opportunity to get more fully involved in the build process by working directly with the designers to develop the exact boat they want to own, just as DeCastro did.

DeCastro sold his previous boat and partnered with Jupiter to customize a boat specifically designed to fit his particular needs. “I sat down with them, told them what I wanted, and they built it for me,” he said. The end result is a boat, just as DeCastro envisioned, with great overall economy. “With its twin motors, it is very efficient in fuel consumption,” he said, adding that he just loves the way his boat looks in the water. “It has wonderful lines, and it’s very sleek,” he said. “It looks great!”
